

Study Mission to LuoYang (洛陽) on

39th China National Quality Circle Convention 11-15 September 2017

The Convention

The China National QC Convention is one of the renowned annual events being organized by the China Association for Quality (formerly known as China Quality Control Association).

Supported by the Government, QC activities are well established in China since 1978. Over the past 40 years, QC activities are widely spread from manufacturing to service sectors such as transportation, project construction, commerce, banking, post & telecommunications. At present more than 1.7 million circles were registered with over 15 million people participating in QC activities. The cumulative economic return produced by QC activities reached RMB$8896 billion. The Convention attracted quality professionals/pioneers and QC teams from various provinces and cities of China.

Nature and Objective

The objectives of the study mission are through participation in the 39th China National Quality Circle Convention, industrial visit and experience sharing to get an insight into:

1. How quality activities are promoted and implemented in China through company visit.
2. How quality activities can improve product and service quality and productivity;
3. Benchmark the best practice in quality management and codified the good concept for individual companies.
